PamGene taking over direct sales responsibility in Switzerland

Dear Researcher,

PamGene and Bucher Biotec have enjoyed a successful relationship promoting the functional proteomics microarray technology in numerous Swiss industrial and academic institutions.

With effect of April 1st 2015 Bucher Biotec will transition responsibility for these products to PamGene's direct sales and support organisation.

PamGene and Bucher Biotec have worked closely together to ensure a seamless process to enable your ongoing needs to be met without disruption.

PamGene has established convenient communication channels as follows:

For Sales and Applications Support please contact:

Martijn Dankers
Phone +31 73 615 89 62
mdankers@pamgene.com

For Technical Support please contact:

Phone +31 73 615 89 00
support@pamgene.com

If you are in any doubt or have any questions about how to contact PamGene then please do not hesitate to ask your existing contacts at Bucher Biotec and we will be happy to help you find your new contact at PamGene.

Going forward we are certain that our customers will continue to receive the high levels of service and support that you are used to as well as receive the additional benefits that are available from dealing with PamGene directly.

We look forward to supporting your ongoing research needs.

Yours sincerely,

Prof. Dr. John P. Groten
Managing Director
PamGene International B.V.
